

UNITED STATES CARRIES POINT

Inviolability of Private Property at Sea Finds Favor at the Peace Conference.

GREAT COUNTRIES OPPOSED QUESTION OF LIMITATION OF ARMAMENTS.

The Hague, July 17.—A vote upon the principle of the American proposition regarding the inviolability of private property at sea was taken today by the committee of the conference dealing with the Geneva convention. Twenty-one delegates voted favorably, eleven were against the measure and there was one absentee. Great Britain, France, Russia, Japan, Spain and Portugal were in opposition, while the Triple alliance, although Germany made a reservation, was among the majority.

Belgium presented a compromise proposal, but Joseph H. Choate of the American delegation, refused to accept it, saying that inasmuch as a majority admitted the principle of immunity, he could not consent to the limitation of this idea, especially as Great Britain and Russia already had declared they would not accept it in any form. This made unanimity impossible.

Professor De Martens (Russia), who presided at the meeting, called attention to the fact that although the American proposition was supported by a majority of the votes passed, the population of the countries voting against the principle was numerically largely in excess of those favoring it.

Vote by Countries.

The vote on this principle by countries was as follows:

Germany, Austria-Hungary, Italy, Switzerland, Turkey, Sweden, Norway, Denmark, Holland, Belgium, Luxembourg, Cuba, Brazil, Uruguay, Ecuador, Haiti, Dominica, China, Siam and Persia voted with the United States.

Great Britain, France, Russia, Spain, Portugal, Montenegro, Japan, Mexico, Colombia, Salvador and Panama voted against her.

Chile abstained from voting.

The population of the countries favoring the American proposition amounts to 84,000,000; that of the countries against it to 22,000,000.

Professor De Martens said further that the United States' proposal did not have a majority of population if China was subtracted.

Several delegates proposed the discussion of intermediary propositions made by Belgium, Holland and Brazil. To this Mr. Choate said:

"We carried the vote with an enormous majority. Having had the whole, why should we take half?"

M. Nelidoff has sent a circular note to the delegates complaining of the publication of documents of the conference intended to be secret and renewing his recommendation to secrecy.

Complaint of Salvador.

Senior Matheu, the delegate from the republic of Salvador, has issued a statement denouncing the aggression of Nicaragua against Salvador, particularly the recent landing at Acapulco and the sacking of the town of Sonsonate.

Efforts are being made to bring about an understanding with regard to the British and German propositions for a supreme prize court, through an intermediary Italian suggestion which provides for a permanent tribunal of judges, the limitation of the jurisdiction of the prize courts, and allowing them proportional rights in the appointment of the judges comprising the tribunal. This court, it is suggested, should include two admirals, to be appointed by the belligerent powers, and one to be present as advisers and not as judges.

Limitation of Armaments.

Marey Von Kapos Mere (Austria) and Count Tornielli (Italy) followed the example of Baron Marschall Von Bieherstein (Germany) in their reference to the British proposition regarding the limitation of armaments which is to be presented by Sir Edward Fry at the next plenary sitting of the conference. This places Signor Titioli, the Italian minister of foreign affairs, in a somewhat embarrassing position. He is personally in favor of the British proposal, but he cannot ignore the attitude of his allies in the Triple alliance. The United States and Spain favor the English views on this matter. M. Nelidoff, however, does not think that Russia can support the idea of limiting armaments, but in view of the condition today of her army and navy as a result of the Russo-Japanese war, M. Nelidoff is personally in favor of limitation, but the French government regards this question as academic and impracticable.

MANY DESERTIONS FROM BATTLESHIP

Norfolk, Va., July 17.—During the past few weeks one hundred deserters have been listed and advertised from the battleship Minnesota, one of the warships in Hampton roads. The local police were notified of fifteen deserters yesterday.

Washington, July 17.—It was stated at the navy department tonight that there was no official notification regarding wholesale desertions from the Minnesota. Captain Hubbard of the Minnesota was at the navy department today, but made no report on the subject. The department has several times investigated rumors regarding desertions at the port, but according to the department without finding the situation very serious.

PIG IRON TOO HIGH.

Manufacturers Unable to Pay Present Asking Prices.

New York, July 17.—The Iron Age will say tomorrow:

Rarely have reports from all parts of the country agreed so thoroughly concerning the condition of the pig iron markets. They are lifeless. Some foreign pig iron is still straggling in, but prices must be made pretty low to move it.

With many branches of the finished iron and steel trades practically pegged the manufacturers who purchase their supplies of pig iron in the open market aver their inability to pay present asking prices, and they insist that pig iron must come down.

The steel works and mills are still very well provided with work, but new tonnage is not and cannot be expected to come in freely at this season of the year.

The copper market has weakened again. Electrolytic copper has sold in moderate quantities on the basis of 21 cents in New York, and it has also been offered at lower figures. So far as can be learned, consumers have not taken hold at the prices established last week.

FLAG DAY ESTABLISHED PROSECUTION OF NEGRO ELKS AUTHORIZED.

Philadelphia, July 17.—The complete and official returns of the election of the grand lodge of Elks, held yesterday in this city, were announced today as follows:

Grand exalted ruler, John K. Tener of Charleston, Pa.; grand treasurer, Edward Leach, New York; grand esteemed loyal knight, W. T. Leickie, Dowagiac, Mich.; grand esteemed lecturing knight, Bayard Gray of Frankfort, Ind.; grand esteemed leading knight, John D. Shea, Hartford, Conn.; grand secretary, Fred C. Robinson, Dubuque, Iowa; grand trustees, Thomas B. Mills, Superior, Wis.; Thomas F. McNulty, Baltimore, and Mayor Charles C. Schmidt of Wheeling, W. Va.; grand Tyler, James Foley, and grand inner guard, A. M. Taylor.

During the sessions of the grand lodge it was decided to establish a flag day for Elks on June 14. A resolution was adopted calling for the appointment of a commission to devise ways and means to prosecute outside users of the Elks' emblem. A subsequent resolution calls for the appointment of a commission to confer with congress to find means to prevent the use of the emblem.

The Memphis lodge was authorized to prosecute the negro Elks of that city.

Grand Band Parade.

A massed band parade, with all the bands playing the same music at the same time, one of the three big features of Elks week, took place today on Broad street. Every musical organization participated in the reunion, numbering more than 40 bands, with 1,500 members, was in line. The musicians formed at Broad street and Fairmount avenue and were arranged according to the instruments. The music played was "The Twenty-first Reunion," which had "The Girl I Left Behind Me," "Home, Sweet Home" and "Auld Lang Syne" as its general theme, with beautiful elaborations.

The contrast in costumes was ludicrous. At the parade could be seen the dazzling costume of some crack regimental musical organization by the side of the more modest costume of a village band.

After the parade most of the visiting Elks and their ladies went to the parks about the city, where special entertainments had been provided.

INGENIOUS BOYS OF BINGHAM OPERATE A MINIATURE RAILROAD

Engine No. 1 of the Air Line.

Five future transportation kings, ranging in ages from 3 to 12 years, have constructed a miniature locomotive that is a tribute to their creative genius. The five youngsters live near the Bingham Consolidated mine in Bingham, at which their fathers are employed. From the little narrow-gauge mine railway the quintette got the idea of constructing a locomotive and laying a railway track.

They were somewhat shy on material, but went to work and did the best they could. A mine truck was borrowed by the boys to form the drivers of the engine, for a boiler a convenient beer barrel served; a stove pipe is used as the smokestack; a pair of lard cans form respectively a headlight and a bell; the cab and pilot are made of rough boards nailed together.

With this material the boys have ingeniously constructed No. 1 of the Air Line. It makes no difference to these youngsters if their boiler won't boil, they contend the barrel does more good than when it furnished beer to carousing Austrians. And, anyway, their smokestack and trucks are real. A spike suspended by a string makes the headlight and bell.

The track on which the engines run is a good one. It is formed of cast-iron rails from the narrow-gauge mining road. It follows the same plan as the railroad running to the Bingham Con. The boys have made a curve and an open cut in their road, the exact counterparts of those on the Bingham Con. line.

The motive power of this miniature railway is gravity, for the rails on the line are the brow of the hill and the inevitable ditch somewhere between the beginning and end of the track, varying according to the caprice of the engine. All five boys climb in the cab, on the pilot and astride the boiler. The boy on the pilot kicks out the wooden block in front of the trucks and away they go, bell clanging and pee-hoing kids yelling like wild Indians.

The engine picks up speed as it goes and whirled around the bend across the cut, and then—the ditch. The boys have a glorious spill, but they don't mind, for they are then transformed into a wrecking crew to right the engine and push it back up the hill.

"Does you see dat dinky engine up dere on de Bingham Con. track? Dey made dat engine just like ours. It ain't got de speed dat ours has, though. Does you see de bend and de cut up dere? Dey's just like ours."

The boy in the picture at the front of the pilot with the railroad lantern is the conductor of the train and superintendent of the Air Line. The boy looking through the cab window is engineer of No. 1 and superintendent of the motive power of the line. His companion in the engine is fireman and foreman of the wrecking crew. The other two boys with the pick and shovel are officials of the Air Line and mine owners operating along the new line.

RAIN FOOLS DR. HYATT.

Wasn't on Schedule and Was Only a Small Affair.

A stray, homeless rainstorm arrived in Salt Lake early yesterday morning, remained a few moments and then departed, having made its presence known only to the few that were upon the streets between 1 and 2 o'clock, the time of its visit.

Dr. Hyatt yesterday looked over his collection of storms and failed to find the visitor's card among the list. Its appearance was a complete surprise to the weather man and his assistants. Its short stay, however, did not tend to break the monotony of fine days that have been promised Salt Lake. It was "fair and warmer" yesterday, as promised.

Dr. Hyatt explained the sudden rainfall by saying that some vagrant, low hanging cloud had deposited its moisture in Salt Lake and then had floated lazily away. There are no full-grown storms in sight for this vicinity, the east and far northwest receiving what surplus rain that is drifting around. A slight rise in temperature was noticeable all over the country yesterday. The cities that have been enjoying cool weather once more hurried back to the soda water fountains and other places where cool liquids are dispensed.

Indications for Salt Lake are continued fair weather today and possibly a trifle warmer.

WHY MAIL GOES ASTRAY

Record of Postoffice for Month Shows Some Carelessness by the Public.

Forgetfulness or carelessness on the part of letter writers has kept the local postoffice department busy lately keeping track of the letters that have been entrusted to the care of Uncle Sam without sufficient postage, addressed illegibly or which for some other reason cannot reach the proper destination.

From a record of "misfit" correspondence that has been collected at the Salt Lake postoffice, it would seem that many persons should pay closer attention to the proper addressing and stamping of their correspondence. During the last month thirty-eight letters without postage have been received. One letter did not have enough postage. Five were addressed illegibly and twenty-six were addressed wrongly. Six persons were absent-minded enough to drop the envelopes into the mail box devoid of any address at all.

Fifty postal cards meant for "post card friends" went astray for various reasons. Sixteen were without postage; twenty-two unmailable for various reasons; seven were without an address and two were placed in the box addressed simply to John Jones or Mary Jones without any postoffice address to guide the clerks. Many packages have also been mailed without sufficient postage to carry them through the mails.

One large letter was received at the postoffice unsealed, although it contained valuable papers.

When possible the faulty letters are sent to their proper destination. Those that are in the "hopeless" class such as ones without sufficient address or an address that cannot be deciphered by the experts, are forwarded to the dead letter office at Washington.

CONDITION OF SUFFERERS.

Washington, July 17.—Admiral Snow wired from Boston today that the outlook regarding Midshipman Cruise, one of the injured of the Georgia, is more favorable, but that heart failure is feared. Rush and Fone are still critical. Thomas, Taglund and Melek continue critical, but hopeful. Schlapp is doing well. Meese's condition is probably fatal. The other four men are practically the same as last night.

BARN BURNED AT PROVO.

(Special to The Herald.)

Provo, July 17.—The barn of Roger Farrer burned this afternoon. The damage was about $500. The cause of the fire is unknown. Before the fire department arrived a bucket brigade was formed to save the dwelling house, and T. F. Pierpont, an official of the Air Line and mine owners operating along the new line.

MUST HAVE A LICENSE.

Attorney General Points Out the Law to Pharmacists.

An explanation of the state law regulating the issuing of licenses to pharmacists was given yesterday in an opinion written by Attorney General Breeden at the request of Walter H. Dayton of the state board of pharmacy.

"There is no law in this state excusing any one from complying with the provisions of the act," says the opinion in part, "and you are advised that your board has no authority to issue licenses until the law is fully complied with, which is to say that every person desiring to compound drugs, medicines or poisons or to open or conduct a pharmacy must apply for a license as required by law and submit to an examination by the state board of pharmacy and obtain a license therefrom."

DIPHTHERIA IN MURRAY.

Five Cases of Diphtheria Develop in City to Date.

Five cases of diphtheria are under quarantine in Murray, and most of them are of recent discovery. A peculiar thing connected with the presence of the disease in Murray is the number of adults that have been attacked. It is estimated that fully 90 per cent of the cases have been persons of mature years, though the disease is usually considered one of the afflictions of children.

DEFENSE WILL CLAIM SUICIDE

Fred H. Magill Can Produce
Witnesses that Former Wife
Killed Herself.

WOMAN ALSO LEFT LETTER SECOND INQUEST LIKELY TO BE HELD.

San Diego, Cal., July 17.—Sheriff Campbell of De Witt county, Illinois, is expected to arrive tomorrow noon for the purpose of taking Fred H. Magill and his present wife, Fay Graham Magill, back to Clinton, to answer the charge of murder for the alleged killing of Magill's former wife. If the Illinois officer can continue his trip without rest, his prisoners will be ready to start back with him on the same train, leaving at 5 o'clock tomorrow. Miss Margaret Magill, who has been staying at the Hotel Robinson since the arrest of her father and step-mother, will return on the same train with them.

The defense will be that which is contained in the very first words that Magill uttered when he was arrested: "My wife committed suicide."

Probable Defense.

The theory of the defense will be substantiated by letters and witnesses who heard her say repeatedly that she was going to end her life, and some who heard her say within forty-eight hours of her act that she would know the peace of the rest after death sooner than any of them knew.

One of the letters was found pinned to her skirt when her body was found. Another was tied up in her handkerchief, and others were in the drawers where she had placed them. If they are forgeries or not, the experts will have ample material to work on, for there are fourteen or fifteen pages of them, and they are written in an undisguised hand. All of them speak of suicide and most of them give reasons. The reasons expressed are two women and constantly recurring headaches.

Authority for Inquest.

Springfield, Ill., July 17.—Attorney General Stead has advised State's Attorney Miller of De Witt county that if any new facts have come to the notice of the state's attorneys or coroner's office in regard to the supposed murder of Mrs. Pet Magill at Clinton, by her husband, Fred Magill, who is under arrest at San Diego, Cal., upon the charge of murdering his first wife, or if the coroner has reasonable grounds to believe from the representations of responsible parties that there has been foul play in the death of Mrs. Magill, or that he has been imposed upon at the first inquest, he not only has the power, but it is his duty to hold another inquest, and to that end he may exhumate the body and hold a post mortem examination.

Body Not Stolen.

Peoria, Ill., July 17.—Word received from Clinton, Ill., is to the effect that the body of Mrs. Pet Magill had not been stolen, but a prominent citizen of that place stated that the body would be exhumed secretly in order to determine whether or not she had committed suicide. Important developments are expected in a few days, as State's Attorney Miller is working vigorously upon the case.
